We, the grand jury, in and for the county of Chariton, respectfully report that in accordance with our other duties, by law and your charge required of us, have examined into the condition of the county jail and the inmates therein, and from such examination find the jail in good condition and the inmates humanely treated.

We also examined the court-house, and suggest for the safety of the building that the breaks in the walls be repaired at once, and the outer wood-work be repainted.

We also call attention to the filthy condition of the glass in the windows of the rooms used as jury and witness rooms.
